The LAU registration kiosk is an essential accessory for access control systems or information systems. With its sleek and sophisticated appearance, it adds a clean and modern touch to any environment, whether it's a fitness center, swimming pool, or office space.

The LAU can be used for various purposes according to your needs. You can integrate your own access control system into the kiosk's housing to require visitors to check-in, for example, in combination with a turnstile or ticket validator.

Additionally, this kiosk can house an information system to welcome visitors or provide other pertinent information. The registration kiosk can be easily mounted on the ground using the pre-drilled holes in the baseplate, with the wiring concealed within the housing.

The LAU registration kiosk comes standard in RAL-9005 color, a common shade that seamlessly blends into various environments and interior styles. Of course, the LAU registration kiosk is also available in any other RAL color upon request.
